Mr. W. E. Goss writes:
"I had rheumatism of the joints for five years and was unable to stand straight. For 18 months I was confined to my home, unable to help myself. At one time I was before a clinic of physicians to determine the best course of treatment but failed to get relief. I was suffering so intensely and weighed but 157 pounds when I heard of Var-ne-sis. I began taking it, am now back to work without a sign of rheumatism and weigh 210 pounds."

The Ford touring car reported to the Norwich police Sunday evening by the New London police as stolen from Ocean Beach, was located in Waterford last Monday night. The car has been turned over to its owner, C. M. Lane, of Hartford.

LOCAL BUREAU SECURED 435 POSITIONS

Situations for 435 men and women were secured during the month of July by the Norwich Free Employment agency on lower Broadway, according to the monthly report of the five bureaus in the state just issued by Commissioner William S. Hyde of the State Bureau of Labor.

The Norwich bureau of which George L. Chesbro is superintendent, had a total of 495 applications for help. Of these applications, 239 were made by men and 256 by women. Applications for help numbered 440, of which 364 were for men and 76 for women. The local bureau secured situations for 359 men and 76 women, making a total of 435 situations secured.

Throughout the state during the month there were 4764 applications for employment and 2750 situations were secured. Applications for help numbered 4,504.

Following is a summary of the activities of the five bureaus during July as compared with the activities during June.

Of the male applicants for employment 76.8 per cent. were supplied with situations against 81.6 per cent. during the month of June.

Of the female applicants for employment 83.1 per cent. were supplied with situations against 84.9 per cent. during the month of June.

Of all applicants for employment 79.3 per cent. were supplied with situations against 81.9 per cent. during the month of June.

Of the total number applying $3.9 per cent. were furnished with help against June.

MR. AND MRS. L. R. PORTER

ON STRANDED BOAT

Lives of 11 guests at the Griswold hotel were endangered at midnight Sunday, when the houseboat Elaine, on which they were being entertained ran ashore on Race Rock. After considerable time the occupants of the boat were rescued by a party of military officers from Fort Wright who rowed out to the boat and secured the shipwrecked persons ashore. The Elaine clung to the rocks after dark.

The house boat is owned by R. J. Rosenthal of Chicago. It was the president of the Sears & Roebuck Co. of Chicago, and at the time of the accident Mr. and Mrs. Rosenthal and their daughter Elaine were on the boat. Among their guests were Miss Glenna Collett, the youngest amateur golf champion, and her mother, Mrs. George Collett, of Providence, R. I.; Mrs. C. A. Fox of Philadelphia, Raymond Balfe, a son of Harry Balfe, president of the Austin Nichols Wholesale Grocery Co. of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Louis R. Porteous of Norwich, Mrs. H. C. Warburton of Providence and a Miss Mary Skulley of Chicago.

The party left the Griswold hotel early Sunday evening for a trip about the coast. About midnight they were returning and encountered Race Rock. The captain of the houseboat went below for a few minutes to adjust the motor, and he did not return. The Elaine was then in a perilous position. The head-on crash of the boat against the rock broke the bow and threw the passengers into confusion. A lifeboat was lowered and a few of the passengers were placed aboard and started for the shore. They continued to cry for help and very shortly attracted the attention of the night sentinel at Fort Wright.

The sentinel sent a call to the officers' quarters and the siren was sounded to give a general alarm.

Just after midnight Friday Mrs. Rosenthal and Mr. Balfe had a narrow escape from death when an automobile in which they were riding accompanied by two other young women, ran into a tree near Brewster's Neck chapel, at Fort Point, Norwich. Miss Rosenthal and the other occupants of the car escaped with slight injuries but Balfe received lacerations and bruises about the face and body which although severe and painful did not prove dangerous.

The accident happened at the crossing on the Military highway just south of the hotel at Brewster's Neck. All four occupants of the car were taken to the Shenecosset golf tournament at Eastern Point and were guests at the Griswold.

AUTO SPEEDS AWAY

AFTER HITTING MOTORCYCLE

Robert Stevens, a world war veteran, living at Station 26, Waterford, is lying in the Lawrence Memorial hospital, New London, with a badly lacerated left foot and possible fracture as a result of carelessness on the part of a driver of a Ford car late Monday afternoon. Stevens was riding his motorcycle and a companion was riding in a side car, going toward New London on the Norwich road, when a Ford came along in the same direction and crowded the motorcycle to one side in passing. The Ford came so close to the motorcycle without any apparent reason, that the hub caps on the automobile struck Stevens, throwing him from the motorcycle and also injuring the machine. The Ford then speeded up and was soon lost in the distance.

Chamber of Commerce Directors

The directors of the Norwich Chamber of Commerce held their weekly business session Tuesday. Only matters of routine interest were transacted.

JOINT OUTING PLANS

ARE SHAPING UP

Plans are beginning to shape up for the joint outing of the Norwich and New London Chambers of Commerce and the Norwich and New London Rotary Club. No date, however has yet been selected, and the place has not yet been chosen.

The local Chamber of Commerce has appointed Clinton Lane to head its committee, and Mr. Lane will have as co-workers on the committee, Charles W. Pearson, J. C. Worth, Nelson Parker and Louis M. Crandall.

Dr. Hugh B. Campbell is chairman of the Norwich Rotary Club committee. Secretary Crandall of the local chamber has been notified by James G. Hammond, secretary of the New London Rotary club, the matter of holding a joint outing with the local organizations was fully discussed and that it was agreed by all that it was a capital idea.

In his letter to Mr. Crandall, Secretary Hammond says: "It would do much to stimulate a better spirit of neighborliness and understanding cooperation between these two respective communities."

The New London chamber committee appointed Stanley A. Goldsmith, Henry R. Bond, Jr. and Secretary James G. Hammond. The New London Rotary Club committee consists of W. Jordan Clarke, Theodore N. M. Lathrop and Walter Lewis.

Mayor Morgan of New London has suggested to Secretary Crandall that the outing be held at Riverdale Park, on the Thames river, just below Connecticut College. Here there are available a bathing beach, a picnic field, comfort station and facilities for a short dinner.

The Norwich committee is planning on holding a meeting this week to consider the matter of transportation. It is possible that the committee will consider the advisability of taking along a band.

A great deal of interest is being shown in the proposed joint outing.

SAYS F. S. MEN WILL

FIGHT NEW TRAFFIC RULES

There is a growing dissatisfaction among the local public service drivers and expressmen over the action taken by the court of common council at its meeting last week when the new traffic rules were adopted abolishing Rose Alley as a parking place for machines. Several of the P. S. men claim the abolishing of Rose Alley as a parking place is hurting their business—and another P. S. driver, during an argument over the abolishing of the old stand in Rose Alley and the expected routing of the public service cars through streets other than Main street and Franklin Square, predicted a fight to the end. He intimated that the public service men might take the matter to the superior court, and in the meantime make an effort to secure an injunction restraining the city from putting into effect the new traffic rules until the matter has been threshed out in the court. He also intimated that the New London public service men will back up the local drivers, as they too, will be affected by the new traffic rules which will prevent them from discharging or receiving passengers on Main street or Franklin Square.

This particular driver, who has been operating a public service car here for the past two years, is of the opinion that the city cannot prevent the P. S. men from loading or unloading passengers on Main street, or Franklin Square.

SELECTED SIX MEN FOR

SWIMMING RELAY TEAM

Antwerp, Aug. 6.—Today held this afternoon to select the personnel of the American relay team for the Olympic games swimming competition resulted in the naming of six entrants, the final four to be chosen the day of the race. Those selected today were Norman Ross, Illinois A. C. W. W. Harris, Jr., Honolulu; Perry McGilivray, Illinois A. C. D. P. Kahanomoku, Honolulu; Kaelola, Honolulu, and P. K. Kahale U. S. Navy.

The racing and diving practices of the American swimmers of both sexes in the Natatorium this forenoon was watched with keen interest by the Australian and Belgian entrants. Ross of the American team expressed an opinion today that every race record would be broken during the coming contest.

The track athletes from the United States planned to train late in the afternoon, while a few of the weight men practiced with the Canadians this morning. The runners were ordered to train outside the edge of the stadium track while the pole course was being brushed and rolled owing to complaints that it was in bad condition.

POETRY

SUMMER

Velvet turf and turquoise sky
Bird and bee and butterfly;
South winds with the trees at play—
Life is bliss alone today!
While the katydid complains,
While the rainbow follows rains,
While the stars press one by one
On the pathway of the sun,
And all night long radiance give,
It is only joy to live!

—Nietzsche M. Lowman.

BY THE PACIFIC OCEAN.

Here room and kindly silence keep
Companionship in stars and sun;
The dignity of death is here,
The lone lone master of the deep;
Here the sea has pitched his camp to rest;
The west is banished against the west.

Above you gleaming skies of gold
One lone immortal peak is seen;
While gathered 'round his feet in green
Ten thousand foresters are told;
And all so still! So still the air,
That duty drops the web of care.

Beneath the sunset's golden sheaves
The waves walk with the deep;
Where silent sea doves slip and sweep
And commerce keeps her loom and
The dead red men refuse to rest;
Their ghosts illumine my humid west.

—Joseph Miller.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"So you're started shaving yourself, eh? Don't you miss the barber's chatter?"

"Not at all. You see, I set my photograph going during the process."—Boston Transcript.

"Are you in favor of women taking active part in politics?"

"I'm not sure," replied Mr. Meekton. "Mr. Henretta takes to throwing her hat into the ring. It's going to cost some thing."—Washington Star.

"Girls used to marry to get a home." The automobile now receives first consideration.

Father: "I'm ashamed to see you crying because a bee stung you. Act like a man."

Bobble: "Y-yes, and then you—youd stung me a 'lickin' like you said y-you would if you ever heard me—me—me—that kind of language."—Houston Post.

"Love," said the ready-made philosopher, "can be seen in that way." commented Miss Cayenne. "A lottery never leaves so many people in doubt as to whether they have won or lost."—Washington Star.

Jasper: "Savin' any daylight, Jason?"

Jason: "Only enough for my immediate needs. Don't want to take any chances of running afoul of them pesky federal agents."—Buffalo Express.

"It is preposterous to think my son is guilty," said the doting mother. "Why, he would not do such a thing as stand on a downtown corner and mash."

"How do you know that, madam?" returned the stern judge.

"Because, sir," was the firm reply. "The won't do anything."—Kansas City Star.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Turkington, "I want to keep you out of politics."

"What's the reason?" I might stand as good a chance as the next man."

"I don't think so. Anybody who is so unkindly with a little thing like a law, never would stand no chance whatever in operating a steam roller."—Washington Star.

"The duke complains that his rich wife can't understand his language and thus can't talk to him."

"Complains?"

"Well, now, I don't believe he did complain. He just mentioned it."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"The Glippings are not spending as much money as they used to."

"They are spending as much as they ever did, but they are not buying as much."—Birmingham Age-Herald.
